'Aid-for-Aged' Bill in Front of Senate in Ohio

Approval Will Send Measure to House; Increases Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Today the Democratic Ohio Senate fulfills a campaign pledge to lift the $65-a-month ceiling on aid-for-the-aged awards. Estimated cost is 13 million dollars in the next two years.

Senate approval will send the measure to the Democratic house.

State payments to the needy aged now average about $58 a month. Passage of the bill would not mean automatic increases for all of them. Aid payments are based on a budget of needs. There is little prospect of a wholesale increase in these budgets.

Instead, the removal of the ceiling is intended to relieve the financial pressure generated when a recipient's needs far exceed the $65 maximum. The measure includes the needy blind.

It also removes the citizenship requirement for eligibility and eases residence requirements.

In major legislative developments Tuesday:

The House Conservation Committee approved 15-3 a bill allowing hunters to shoot Bob White in state-controlled areas and on other lands under agreements with farmers. The hunting season would be set by the Ohio Wildlife Council which also would determine bag limits and other regulations.

The House Judiciary Committee voted 15-2 to ban motor scooter licenses for those under 16 and revoke permits now outstanding to 14 and 15-year-olds.

The next legislative move is a floor vote in the House on the bills. The two measures have drawn more mail to lawmakers than all other pending proposals combined.

The Senate passed 18-11 and sent to the House a bill to keep voter registrations alive for four years of non-voting instead of two.

The Senate also passed and sent to the House a bill to permit teachers to have counsel at school board hearing involving their contract rights and to permit Miami University to give title to lands now managed under leaseholds.

A house bill approved by a 114-5 vote would set a maximum penalty of $500 for practicing law without a license. Present law provides fines for those falsely representing themselves as lawyers.

Among 33 measures introduced Tuesday were bills to:

Create an Ohio Development Corp. made up of financial institutions to make loans to encourage industry and stimulate the state's economy.

Reduce state employees' work week to 35 hours.

Appropriate $25,000 to investigate the Ohio racing commission.

Require a majority of the value of real estate as well as a majority of freeholders on a petition to annex to a municipality.

Great Britain's Troubles Mount In Nyasaland

Demonstrations by Natives Continue In African Province

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—Britain is facing up to a new nationalist threat in Africa—mounting racial unrest in black Nyasaland.

With angry native demonstrations continuing since last Friday, Royal Air Force planes sprayed rock-throwing crowds with tear gas in Lilongwe Tuesday. Members of the King's African Rifles fired on the rioters in the market place and two casualties were reported.

A spokesman for the British colonial government said the demonstrators were scattered by late afternoon, but sporadic shooting continued. The crowd turned ugly after officials prohibited the holding of a nationalist meeting.

It was the first trouble in Lilongwe, capital of Nyasaland's central province. Previous disturbances had been mostly in Blantyre, capital of the southern province.

Mainspring of the unrest is Dr. Hastings Banda, president of the Nyasaland African National party. His organization wants to take the protectorate of Nyasaland out of the Central African Federation, a member of the British Commonwealth which also includes self-governing Southern Rhodesia and the protectorate of Northern Rhodesia.

To cope with the swelling movement, Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Rhodesia-Nyasaland Federation, summoned thousands of young white reservists for intensive training. They will be stationed in principal cities to bolster the army and police.

Welensky said his aim was to "maintain peace and essential respect for law and order throughout the federation."

There are only 6,000 whites in Nyasaland — tea and tobacco growing region of three million Africans. The two Rhodesias have 250,000 whites and 4½ million blacks, and the whites of Southern Rhodesia dominate the federation government.

Banda wants Nyasaland to join Kenya and Tanganyika, neighboring territories under British control. He apparently thinks the militant nationalist leadership in Kenya will hasten a break from British control.

Kenya is a British colony, Tanganyika a U.N. Trust territory administered by Britain.

Sec. Dulles Celebrates 71st Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles, one of the world's most traveled men, celebrates his 71st birthday today with only a short trip scheduled.

That trip: about 300 feet in a wheel chair from his room in Walter Reed Army Hospital to an X-ray room to receive radiation treatment for cancer.

President Eisenhower may visit his ailing secretary of state during the day and members of the Dulles family were sure to drop in.

But the kind of family celebration which has marked most of his birth anniversaries will be missing.

Dulles began the radiation treatments last Friday after a hernia operation a week earlier had shown a recurrence of cancer. The X-ray treatments will go on for another three weeks or so.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said Tuesday "there are no signs of adverse reaction at this stage" to the increasingly heavy doses of X-ray which Dulles has been given.

But he added that what progress Dulles is making probably will not be known until the end of the radiation therapy.

Dulles himself was reported in good spirits and taking an interest in world affairs. Apart from his talks with the President, he has been in daily touch by telephone with people in the State Department, and has kept up with newspaper and radio news accounts of current developments.

British Leader Surprised by Soviet's Action

Russian Ebulient; Macmillan Hopes to Justify Russia Trip

MOSCOW (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev resumed their talks today in an atmosphere heated up by Khrushchev's latest public avowal that the Soviets will not make concessions on West Berlin or German unification.

Macmillan was obviously shaken by Khrushchev's fiery statement to a political meeting in the

Eisenhower Says Red Attitude Is Illogical

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Soviet Union's attitude regarding Berlin is so illogical it offers little promise for establishment of a just peace.

With much emphasis, Eisenhower told a news conference the United States will not give one single inch in its determination to preserve the rights and responsibilities of the Western Allies with respect to Berlin.

Kremlin Tuesday while his British guest was away from Moscow. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union sees no point in a Big Four foreign ministers meeting, will not deal with the Western Allies on German unification and still plans to give the East Germans control of Allied supply routes to West Berlin.

Khrushchev motored out today to Uspenskoye to join Macmillan and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd at the villa 25 miles from Moscow which was put at the Britons' disposal for their visit.

Khrushchev was accompanied by Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Over Lunch and into the afternoon, the two delegations were to continue the discussions which they last held at the Kremlin Monday.

A British informant said Khrushchev will fly to Kiev Thursday in the same plane with Macmillan. This had not been on the schedule. Macmillan and Lloyd were to have gone alone to visit Kiev.

After two days in Kiev, Macmillan will leave by plane Saturday morning for a day's stay in formal talks Sunday.

The sudden free-wheeling tactics of the Soviet premier caught the 65-year-old Macmillan off balance halfway through his 10-day visit aimed at bringing better understanding between East and West.

Shocked by Khrushchev's ebullience at a British Embassy cocktail party Tuesday night a few hours after he made a sudden biting attack on the west, Macmillan commented in a stunned undertone: "This is an extraordinary method of diplomacy."

Ohio Valley Group Reviews Flood Toll

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio Valley Improvement Assn. (OVIA) says 20 million dollars in damage could have been averted in the Ohio Valley during the January-February floods if flood control projects which have been authorized had been completed.

An OVIA analysis of the flood, compiled from figures provided by the Ohio River Corps of U.S. Engineers, said the floods caused $112,000,000 in damages in the Ohio Valley and that existing flood control and protection works saved another $120,000,000.

It listed eight authorized projects, however, which would have further reduced the damage if they had been completed.

The flood damage caused the OVIA to hike its recommendations for appropriations for five of the projects.

The analysis, by projects, said: Freed Upper Valley

The Allegheny Reservoir in Pennsylvania, if it had been completed, would have freed the upper valley from flooding and prevented at least $3,300,000 at Warren, Pa., and other upper Allegheny River areas.

The Shenango River Reservoir, above Sharon, Pa., would have completely prevented damage to Sharon and would have prevented at least $6,750,000 damage in other areas.

The West Branch Mahoning Reservoir would virtually have eliminated flooding at Warren, Ohio, and prevented damage of $3,870,000 in that area in addition to reducing stages in the lower Beaver and Ohio River districts.

The Dillon reservoir would have saved at least $1,770,000 by eliminating flooding at Zanesville, Ohio, and in lower portions of the Muskingum basin.

Three authorized reservoirs at Huntington, Ind., and on the Salamonie and Missinewa rivers in Indiana "would have made flood fighting at West Terre Haute, Ind. a simple matter and otherwise would have eliminated the effects of the flood at Wabash and Peru, Ind. as well as greatly lessening damage to upper Wabash (River) communities such as Logansport and Lafayette, Ind.

A break in the privately-built Mason L. Niblack Levee on the Wabash River near Vincennes, Ind. flooded nearly 10,000 acres of farmland. The OVIA said "this area would have been completely Harr, who escaped uninjured, was cited for driving left of center.

Autos driven by Nicholas Bogdan, 32, of Columbiana, and Nancy Lee Saviers, 22, of East Palestine collided on a one-lane bridge on County Rd. 423, three miles east of Columbiana, at 8:30 a.m.

Atrocities Shattered Batista Army's Morale and Resulted In Collapse

Editor's Note: This is the last of three articles telling of the way the Batista regime in Cuba handled opposition elements or those suspected of opposition activity.

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
HAVANA (AP)—People get hurt in revolutions.

The Batista regime, as the constituted authority threatened by Fidel Castro's rebels, fought back. Then Batista's army, his last hope for survival, began to destroy itself. One of the factors that brought about its destruction was its officers' efforts to apply the horror chamber techniques that Batista's national police had been using even before Castro landed in Oriente province in 1956.

Stories of atrocities committed against defenseless guerrillas—the poor agricultural laborers of eastern Cuba—shattered army morale and led to defections and subversion.

Unable to cope with the guerrilla strategists in the Sierra Maestra, the army's leaders tortured and killed guerrillas in efforts to extract information on the rebel army's movements.

One of these army leaders was Capt. Pedro Morejon, executed early this month. A Castro military tribunal convicted him on separate counts of assassination, homicide, theft, arson and damage.

He and two other officers, now dead, Firmin Cowley and Jesus Sosa Blanco, were the most dreaded operatives of repression in Oriente province. Maj. Sosa Blanco—executed last week—was accused of 108 assassinations. Morejon of 33.

Col. Cowley, their superior, has been accused of personally machine-gunning the 15-man rebel crew of the yacht Corintha that made an ill-fated landing on Cuba's north shore near Holguin Nov. 7, 1957. Eyewitness accounts say Cowley was furious at seeing the captured rebels, one of them wounded, being brought in alive.

He took a tommygun from a guard and shot the rebels. Led to Terrorism

This led to a wave of terrorism. Holguin residents call "Black Christmas." It was about the time Fidel Castro's rebel incursions into the lowlands from the Sierra Maestra had been growing bolder and more frequent.

Army activity against civilians tightened. At dawn of Dec. 24, the bodies of 12 brutally beaten civilians were found in the streets of Holguin. A few days later Cowley was shot dead in a hardware store by a rebel band.

The arrest and grilling of some 200 citizens followed. Civic and fraternal organizations protested to Capt. Rafael Lavastida, who had been named to replace Cowley. All but seven of those arrested were released. A few days later the tortured bodies of six of those were found on a highway.

Authorities said they had been killed in a rebel ambush. Denies Knowing of Brutality

None of the testimony at the military tribunals has linked Batista personally to an act of brutality. He has said in his Dominican exile that he knew nothing of them. Castro leaders scorn this idea. In requesting his extradition from the Dominican Republic, a "refugee from justice," Castro's

Foreign Ministry said the deposed dictator was the "maximum author and instigator of numerous cases of assassination, theft and malversation of public funds."

Bohemia, a widely circulated pictorial news magazine, says Batista was present when flying squads of national police left the Presidential Palace in quest of suspects in the attempt on Batista's life March 13, 1957.

Batista narrowly escaped death that day. A band of armed youths penetrated to the second floor of the palace before being mowed down by guards.

Forty-four persons, some not connected with the attack, reportedly paid with their lives in the national police roundup. Among them was former Sen. Pelayo Cuervo Navarro, an opponent of the administration. Bohemia says he had no connection with the assassination plot.

More than 300 former Batista regime officials—police and army officers—have been executed for "major war crimes." A large number have been absolved or given prison sentences.

Two Senators Fight Against Ike Appointee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Democrats are building a protest bonfire under President Eisenhower's nomination of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

Strauss, one of Washington's more controversial figures, appears likely to get eventual confirmation if only because the Senate seldom in modern times has rejected a cabinet appointment.

But Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) and some other Democrats are expected to direct a hot fire against the former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission before the appointment is acted upon by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The committee postponed consideration of the nomination, scheduled today, after Kefauver asked for a delay pending a Justice Department report on Strauss' role in the Dixon-Yates controversy.

Atty. Gen. Rogers meanwhile made public a letter to Kefauver saying there is no such investigation pending.

Kefauver contended in a statement Tuesday that Strauss arranged for a presidential directive requiring the AEC to contract with the Dixon-Yates utilities combine to build a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply supplemental power to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The contract was canceled by presidential order after testimony before congressional committee showed Adolph Wenzell, New York financier, served as an adviser both to the Budget Bureau and to the utilities interests.

RACHEL

"And Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel."

—Genesis 29:16

The story of Rachel is a love story. Listen:

Out of the parched fields of summer, she brought her father's flock to the well of Haran to quench their thirst.

There she met a young and handsome stranger. He told her his name was Jacob and that he had journeyed from the distant town of Beer-sheba in another country.

Obliquely, he rolled the huge stone from the mouth of the well so that her sheep could drink. And as he talked with the girl and her elder sister, his eyes kindled with a new light. He saw that "Leah was tender eyed; but Rachel was beautiful and well favored."

Her simple shepherd's robe, open at the throat, revealed her smooth skin, sun-ripened like wheat. Even the grass blade that clung to her drifting hair seemed elegant as a plume.

"And Jacob loved Rachel."

His love was immediate and it was intense. He told her father:

"I will serve thee seven years for Rachel thy younger daughter."

Laban agreed, and Jacob submitted cheerfully to the long years of labor for his love.

During that time he saw her grow into full womanhood. And he planned for their future together. He longed to take her back to his home in Beer-sheba. He wanted to present her proudly to his family.

When the seven years were up and the time of Jacob's marriage to Rachel arrived, however, Laban deceived him.

On their wedding night, the girl's father substituted her elder sister, Leah.

When Jacob learned of the deception, he was very angry. But Laban told him that in their country the younger sister could not be married before the elder one.

If Jacob would serve him another seven years, he said, he could then marry Rachel.

Because he loved Rachel so much, Jacob labored another seven years to win her hand.

Gov. Luther Hodges Warns Negotiators

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Gov. Luther Hodges has warned union and management officials they bear "direct and personal responsibility" to prevent further violence in the bitter Henderson-Harriet Cotton Mill strike.

Negotiators received strongly worded telegrams from the Governor as they prepared to meet again today in an effort to end the 15-week dispute.

"The rising tensions and the continuance of...acts of violence constitute a threat to the maintenance of law and order which cannot be condoned," Hodges declared.

He referred to three bombings, stoning and car-tipping incidents, threats against several workers, and an attack on vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America. All have occurred since company President John D. Cooper Jr., reopened the plants Feb. 16.

The company's 1,200 workers voted to strike Nov. 17 when management insisted that a provision calling for arbitration in settling disputes be left out of a new contract. The provision had been in effect 14 years.

The Saps Who Pay the Piper

There are Frenchmen who have ridden the wave of inflation without damage. And there are Frenchmen who have come close to drowning. Their plight is shown by some startling examples in the February Reader's Digest.

Because French politicians failed to raise enough money in taxes to pay for their giveaway projects, the French franc lost value until it is now so nearly without value that the government is issuing 100-franc notes to create a new basis of currency exchange.

The cost of living, due to the politicians' irresponsibility, is 37 times higher now than it was in 1927. This has been the downfall of millions of aging French citizens who conscientiously saved to buy insurance, government bonds, annuities and other fixed-return investments to see them through their declining years.

These citizens, now impoverished, are classified as "economically weak," which is the equivalent of "indigent" in the United States. They have come to grief because the cost of political generosity in years past was taken out of their hides, instead of out of the hides of French taxpayers. There are no less than four million of these unfortunate Frenchmen officially registered. They are the saps who paid the piper.

For example, a widow living on annuities bought out of savings by her husband now must pay 40 times as much for a pound of butter as was being paid when the annuities were being bought out of savings. A citizen who had saved two million francs (about $57,000) for his old age now is able to get about $220 a year, including his government allowance for the underprivileged.

"THERE IS, I believe, one great irresistible force in this country that can stop inflation at its source," in the words of Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., explaining how wage boosts can cause inflation. "That is the force of informed public opinion."

There was no force of public opinion in France while the franc was being milked of its value. There is still no force of public opinion in the United States. The majority party scarcely could wait to launch a free-hand program in Washington after the November elections. Its spokesmen are still plugging for more government giveaways, despite the alarm the Spondocrat philosophy has been causing among financial experts.

The Eisenhower administration, striving to preserve the value of the dollar for the sake of the national credit, is being sneered at by critics who claim it isn't necessary to balance the budget; that what the people want is more important than how much they can afford. Whereupon, the Spondocrats tell what the people want, though in fact it is a far cry from what politicians think they want.

It every American who could be put on the relief rolls by devaluation of dollars to the disappearing point were to write to his congressmen and his senators and tell them what he wants, the Spondocrats would be run out of Washington before the Japanese cherry trees bloom.

Chief Justice Silence Speaks Loudly

Chief Justice Warren has let his withdrawal from membership in the American Bar Assn. speak for itself. It has been eloquent.

It cries out against sniping attacks on the U. S. Supreme Court by legalists who accuse it of trespassing on the rights of Congress. It proclaims disagreement with legalists who would like to have the Constitution say one thing for their convenience and another thing for the inconvenience of an opponent. It shrieks a protest against legalists who have been undermining the prestige of the Supreme Court by hinting that it has been over-kind to Communists, instead of enhancing its prestige by admitting that it reversed some bad decisions that could not be allowed to go unchallenged.

An American Bar Assn. committee now has proposed to Congress belatedly that it clear up a number of points in the law that have produced criticism of Supreme Court rulings. This proposal, which has been endorsed by the AAB board of governors, disclaims any intention to censure the Supreme Court.

Congress is solely responsible for settling disagreements about legislative intent, if they cannot be settled by the Supreme Court. Only Congress can enact legislation. If some of the legalists who have been jumping on the Supreme Court for disagreeing with their predilections will take their deas to Congress for settlement, they will find that many politicians on Capitol Hill have not the slightest interest in taking the Supreme Court off the spot.

It is easier to jump on the court than to straighten out the intent of the law. Chief Justice Warren seems to have known that all the time.

The Life of a Referee

There's never any sugar in the rhubarb which is dished out to the referees at scholastic basketball games. No matter how they call them, the officials' decisions too often are challenged by the spectators' howls of protests. Somehow, the fans' eyesight is better than the referees' 20-20 vision down on the floor.

Obviously, the officials are needed. The game couldn't function without them. We imagine they feel like Daniel when he was thrown into the lion's den, but through the thick and thin of all the verbal blasts that the fans pour forth in the excitement of a game, the officials' only reaction is a continuance of fair-minded decisions based on the rules of the game.

And, what happens when the game ends? No one looks to see where they went. Apparently, as always, they were expendable. Just a couple of striped shirted boys trying to make a few extra bucks.

Before the last whistle sounds on the scholastic hardwoods this season we'd like to pay tribute to all the hard-working officials for a job well done.

Once Over

John Foster Dulles is "Mister Indomitable." In a world well populated with "take it easy and don't strain yourself" boys, he stands out in brilliant contrast. A headache keeps many a VIP from a five-minute trip to a half-hour conference; a pain in the big toe sends plenty of "Mr. Bigs" buckety-buckety to vacation resorts, leaving others to carry on heavy burdens in rough weather.

Secretary Dulles, overburdened, harassed and a sick man is not the type. He could be taken off the job only on an operating table.

He could be called John Duty Dulles. He combines some qualities of Ajax, Clyde Beaty, Horatius at the Bridge, the woodsman who handled the wolf in grandma's nightie, the Iron Man, Androcles, the disk jockey who recently went nine days without sleep, and the "youth who bore mid snow and ice a banner with the strange device."

If Mr. Dulles had been in the place of Androcles he would have handled not only one lion but come back for more.

J.F.D. LACKS COLOR. He has no TV personality. He is no ear-to-ear smiler. He could never make with the honeyed words and the stirring phrases He could seem stuffy. But he has been valorous, self-sacrificing and dedicated.

He would have gone into a tough pro hockey game any time with his skates on backwards if he had thought it a call to duty. It has taken his latest trip to the repair pit to make folks appreciate his courage and non-fading dedication.

He had done so much over so many oceans and continents so often at such high speed that his performance seemed routine. There is no "ham" in John Foster Dulles. He could be dull. But no pain, anguish, ache, personal

Cooperation Needed

Ronald Leigh, Salem's newly-appointed executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, told members at a get-acquainted luncheon meeting Monday that he was impressed by the spirit and evidence of a desire for civic improvement which he had found among Salem people.

This can only lead to progress, he declared as he called for a revitalized Chamber embarking on a well-fashioned program that will include both present and future needs.

We, too, were impressed by Ron's sincerity and his eagerness to assume new responsibilities. His job can be made lighter and accomplishments gained only through the fullest cooperation of everyone. The Lafayette, Indiana, Chamber of Commerce regrets losing Mr. Leigh, who was assistant manager there. We welcome him to Salem.

A man was arrested for stealing stamps from a post office window. At least he should be sentenced to write with a post office pen.

worry, previous appointment, tough airplane trip, bad flying weather or terrific responsibility could stay him in his appointed rounds. He made mistakes. But he was in there battling when he "should of stood in bed." The doctor had better strap him down. Otherwise the nurse may come in any minute and say, "My goodness! That man got up and is somewhere over the Atlantic in a jet plane."

ALL DOGS get our affection. But "Fontclair Festoon," the poodle, voted best of all in recent national dog show would never be our choice. This is not knocking Fontclair. This Frenchy-like pooch could sue mankind for damages. Through breeding trends and stylings this poodle has been made a caricature of the traditional bow wow. Through man's hands this dog has been pampered, dolled up, barbered and stylized until it looks like an animated combination of shaving brush, fur mittens and a fur shop of odds and ends.

We like to think of a dog as a durable, rugged animal that scampers across sunny fields with a freckled boy, scares burglars, keeps away installment collectors, chases railroad trains and, perhaps, does the Alpine pass routine with a keg of brandy. Fontclair Festoon, 14 inches high, is lovable, loyal and a champion. But give us Lassie, the Alpine Saint Bernard or Balto in the dash to Nome with serum.

BOB KIPHUTH, most successful swimming coach in history, is retiring after 40 years at Yale. Over that period his teams won 514 meets, losing only a dozen. He came to Yale as a physical instructor in 1918 without any idea of going near the water. But despite loss of Bob, the Kiphuth touch remains for his son is director of Yale Athletic Association.

Holding the Bag

What Is Force?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's just a simple question in philosophy right now—What is force? But in a few months it may be the heart of a crisis over West Berlin.

This is a brief version of the problem:

Not only is East Germany Communist-run, under the thumb of the Soviet Union, but so is the Eastern Zone of Berlin which is the capital of the East German government. The Soviets have troops there. Berlin is 100 miles inside East Germany.

But the 2,200,000 civilians in West Berlin consider themselves citizens of West Germany whose capital is in Bonn. West Berlin is a Western showpiece. Its high prosperity is a glaring contrast to the drabness of East Berlin.

Since World War II days, through agreements with the Soviet Union, the Western Allies have had troops in West Berlin. They are supplied from West Germany—by plane, rail and road—through or over 110 miles of East Germany.

But since last November the Soviet Union has made a number of demands and proposals which compel the West to face or avert a crisis. The Soviets in effect set a deadline around May 27.

They call for making West Berlin a free city; they want Western military forces withdrawn; they want a settlement of unifying the two Germanys; they talk of making a separate peace settlement with East Germany.

And they talk of turning over to the East German government full control of what can enter East Germany. To put it another way, the East German Communists would be free to refuse to let the Allies send military supplies to West Berlin.

What would happen if they did that? A lot of things could happen. For one: The Allies can hardly abandon the West Berliners whose "free zone" would become a small island completely surrounded in the sea of Communist East Germany.

The Allies at this point apparently don't know what to expect. They decided to try talking before the May 27 deadline. They proposed that the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France have a foreign ministers conference.

This proposal had hardly reached the Kremlin when Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev threw another log on the fire Tuesday.

Referring to the idea that the Soviet Union might let the East Germans refuse to permit passage of military supplies to West Berlin, he said:

"Any violation of the German Democratic Republic's sovereignty will be fittingly rebuffed, regardless of how the violation is made: by water, ground or air." Then Khrushchev suggested that if the Allies tried to shoot their way through East Germany to West Berlin it would mean war.

"Everyone realizes that if anyone starts shooting that would mean the beginning of war," he said.

President Eisenhower, asked about the Khrushchev comments at his Wednesday news conference, replied: "We are not saying that we are going to shoot our way into Berlin."

He said if the Western powers were prevented from carrying out their obligations to the people of West Berlin "it will be somebody else using force."

He said Khrushchev "must be talking about shooting to prevent us from doing our duty. After all, that is what is going to happen, if it happens."

That brings back the question which may have to be settled on the East German frontier: What is force?

Is it force if the United States—arguing it has a right and duty to ship supplies to West Berlin and has agreements with the Soviets to let the supplies through—insists on going through? Is that force?

The West would argue: No. But the Soviets, who now claim the old agreements are outdated, would insist any attempt by the Allies to send military supplies through East Germany against the East German government's will is force.

Perhaps this will happen, if the situation gets that far: The first time the East Germans refuse to let Allied supplies through, the West—instead of seeking a showdown there and then—may stop short of trying to ram through and take the case to the United Nations, at least for discussion.

Fulbright's Denial

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Russian Wrote of Interview With Senator

Sen. J. William Fulbright, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has denied the report published in the Soviet government's weekly "New Times" which gave the impression that the Arkansas senator had told a Communist writer of Soviet treatment of Soviet Russia by the United States could be expected if the Democrats should win the 1960 presidential election.

The article was written by Stanislav Menshikov, son of the Soviet ambassador here, while visiting in Washington recently. Inasmuch as the ambassador's son was writing for a Soviet government publication and was himself a part of the Soviet Embassy entourage during his four-month stay in the United States, the publication of this article, impinging on American politics, becomes the responsibility also of the head of the embassy, Mikhail Menshikov.

Unquestionably the ambassador was familiar with the mission of his son in approaching Sen. Fulbright for the interview on politics and must have known the nature or contents of the article finally transmitted to Moscow for publication in the government-controlled "New Times."

For an even less tenuous connection with American politics, a British envoy was expelled from Washington by the United States government many years ago.

IN THIS INSTANCE, Sir Loionel Sackville-West, British minister to Washington, sent a letter marked "private" to an American who had asked what would be the best way for a naturalized citizen, formerly of Great Britain, to vote in the presidential election of 1888. The minister wrote that it would be to the best interests of Great Britain if the vote were cast for Grover Cleveland.

The letter was made public through friends of the recipient. Though any intention to interfere in American politics was disclaimed by the British minister, he was promptly handed his passport by order of President Cleveland.

But the damage was done and

Mr. Cleveland was defeated in that campaign largely because of the opposition of anti-British groups.

Meddling in American politics by any diplomatic representative of a foreign government has always been considered by the United States government as an improper activity.

In an early instance, "Citizen" Genet, the diplomatic representative of the French government, criticized the United States' public for issuing a proclamation of neutrality in the war then going on between France and Great Britain. When he threatened to appeal over the head of President Washington to the American people, his recall was requested by the secretary of state, Thomas Jefferson.

In 1952, the Soviet government itself requested the recall of Ambassador George Kennan because of some remarks he made to the press while in Bonn, Germany.

THESE COMMENTS were critical of the Soviet government, which, in a formal note, declared that he had committed "a rude violation of the generally recognized norms of international law."

To this, Secretary of State Acheson replied that the Soviet itself had disregarded the rules of international intercourse and that what Mr. Kennan had said was true.

Anyway, the recall, of course, took effect, as it is the custom to comply with the requests of other governments when they declare any member of an embassy or legation to be "persona non grata" of unacceptable any longer to the resident government.

Mikhail Menshikov, the present Soviet ambassador, has violated the rules in more ways than one. He refused last November, for instance, while at the Department of State to listen to a tape recording which dealt with the crash of an American unarmed airplane in which 17 Americans were killed. To refuse to accept a part of any communication submitted in diplomatic intercourse and, in effect to challenge its veracity is to offer an insult to the resident government. For ambassadors are regarded as channels of communication and, if these are inoperative, there is little use in continuing to receive the same ambassador as an accredited representative of his government.

Tax Tyranny

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Revolt against tyranny takes two forms: open, violent demonstrations with rioting, bloodshed and rapine, or silent, secret sabotage, law violation and other forms of frustrating an authority which the public considers oppressive and unjust. Usually the second sort of activity runs into the first. But in what I am considering, the second may run not into bullets but balloons.

A friend of mine, who is a distinguished tax and estate lawyer, drew on the back of a menu card a rough chart. One line moved from left to right in an ascending curve.

"This," he said, "represents the rise in taxes which we are experiencing." (He is a New Yorker, and the subject that touched off his exposition was Gov. Rockefeller's high tax budget.)

Then he drew another line, curving downward: "This is the state of public morality. The higher the taxes, the greater the amount of cheating."

He continued: "At first the tax increases do not seriously impair public morals, but, as the pressure of taxes intensifies, the drop in morality accelerates, at first gradually and finally catastrophically."

HE IS A LAWYER whose knowledge of the habits of the well-to-do comes from his many clients. His comments come with authority:

"I don't mean that the rich come to cheat more than the less fortunate. The rich, after all, can hire clever tax planners who, whatever the Internal Revenue Code may attempt in the way of restrictions, can always design interesting and profitable ways legally to escape taxes. But to the relatively poor such expert aid is not available. They fashion do-it-yourself methods of cheating. These are called evasion, which is illegal — not avoidance, which is legal. But by either method, the motive is the same and the end result is the same.

"Where are we today? Everybody cheats who is able to. Few of the well-to-do resort to such extreme methods as hiding income abroad. But they exaggerate deductions, carrying family expenses as business expenses or otherwise. Businessmen use such methods as inventory manipulations. But the time may come when there will be more and more hiding of income, which is very easy to do.

"People with low incomes have already started to hide on a widespread scale. Certain kinds of domestic help are impossible to get unless payment is made in cash. Many an otherwise virtuous housewife participates in this avenue to evasion. Many employees have cash-on-the-spot jobs on the side. Some people with relatively low incomes make no returns and get away with it."

I MIGHT ADD that a year or two ago a lawyer in a rural area whose clients are farmers told me that he lost many clients because he prepared for them what he considered honest returns. Thereupon, the clients marched over to another lawyer whose morality rested on another plane.

Thus, there is an element of competition in which the lawyer whose compassion for the taxpayer exceeds his concern for public revenue gets the most business.

As this goes on, the tax collector must hire more and more agents to ferret out cheating. That, in turn, means more bureaucracy, more government expense and more taxes.

My friend concluded: "We are close to the point where cheating will be greater and more aggressive."

"Finally, when there is a breakdown in one area of morality, it is likely to metastasize into other areas, in the way a cancerous condition spreads."

150 Men Attend 35th Annual Legion Community Banquet

COLUMBIANA — "In order for evil to triumph, it is only necessary for good men to do nothing about it." That was the gist of a message delivered at the third annual Community Men's Night banquet Monday evening at Heck's Restaurant. About 150 attended.

The speaker was Merle F. Brady of Van Wert, immediate past commander of the Ohio Department of the American Legion. He described America as being threatened by a "two-headed monster" — subversion and lawlessness. He warned of complicity toward wrongdoing, and of recent court decisions which he said put the fight against communism back 20 years.

But, Brady concluded, there is one weapon which will combat the threats. "Stick together. Work at a common patriotic goal," he urged, "and we will be able to forge new weapons to fight communism and lawlessness."

Brady was introduced by Richard Winegard, commander of American Legion Post 290 which sponsored the banquet as its 35th annual tribute to the birthday of George Washington.

Representative Wayne Hays Fights 'Nit-Wits' in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Are there nit-wits in the House of Representatives?

House members debated that question, then left it unanswered after a brief but spirited discussion Tuesday on the House floor.

The debate was broken up after at least one member insisted that more of his colleagues be on hand if such a controversial matter were to be discussed.

"I think the folks ought to hear it," commented Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.).

Hoffman objected to such a weighty debate without the presence of a quorum—218 members. Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) counted only about 20 and then rammed through a motion to adjourn rather than summon the absentees. There was no other business anyway.

The adjournment ended a three-way debate among Reps. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.), Gardner Withrow (R-Wis.) and Wayne Hays (D-Ohio).

It involved a speech Withrow made recently to the Congress of the Dominican Republic. Withrow was quoted as having told the Dominican legislators "we sometimes elect" nit-wits to the United States Congress. Reuss didn't like any of the speech. Hays took umbrage at the reference to nit-wits in Congress. He told the House he had first considered objecting to reprinting the Withrow speech in the Congressional Record. However, the sharp-tongued Ohioan added, after reading the entire speech he was inclined to believe that Withrow had proved his point.

Withrow denied having referred to colleagues as nit-wits. Confronted with what Hays said was an official transcript, Withrow retorted that there was no official transcript made.

In his own time, Withrow said, he would make his own defense of his speech to the Dominicans. Hays said he hoped Withrow would. Reuss said he, too, hoped the debate would be resumed.

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, famous composer, was born in Hamburg, Germany, of Jewish parents. The name Bartholdy was added when the family adopted the Protestant faith.

Old Lowery Quarry Is Landmark

Foundation Stone For Early Homes Came From There

By JAMES MURPHY

The abandoned Lowery Quarry at the west end of Wilson St. is the largest in the northern part of the county and is an interesting Salem landmark. This quarry supplied foundation stone for most of Salem's earlier homes.

Even in today's world of concrete and ready-mix cements, sandstone is an important building stone. Abundant in Columbiana County, it was widely used by the pioneers for building purposes.

Most of the fine stone houses in and around Lisbon were built before 1820, but the large quarries along Little Beaver Creek, northwest of town, were active until about 25 years ago.

These quarries supplied stone for the locks and dams of the Sandy and Beaver Canal as well as for the county court house. During the 1920's the Smallwood-Low Co. made huge grindstones at this quarry and shipped them to paper mills in Canada and Japan.

IN "PAP'S DIARY" Daniel Howell Hise records an interesting discovery at the Lowery Quarry. In the fall of 1877 the workmen uncovered the fossilized footprints of a large amphibian that lived over 250 million years ago.

Garden Club Gives Ribbons At Workshop

A morning workshop was conducted by Mrs. George Jones preceding the regular afternoon meeting of the Salem Garden Club on Monday in the Ruth Smucker House.

Green ribbon awarded to all those making arrangements went to Mrs. James Cross, Mrs. Frank Skowron, Mrs. Carl Flickinger, Mrs. Lozier Caplan, Mrs. Charles Corbett, Mrs. Vincent Horning, Mrs. Harry Krohne, Mrs. William Butler, Mrs. Lester Koenreich, Mrs. John Little, Mrs. R. T. Holzbach.

Mrs. Z. R. Taylor and Mrs. William McKay were guests.

Mrs. Jones reported from the Salem Federation of Women's Club of the annual antique show's plans, in which the Garden Club participates.

Mrs. Flickinger, chairman of the bird committee, and members Mrs. Charles Haldi, Mrs. Ralph Martin and Mrs. A. Smith, had furnished a bird feed for the Home for Aged Women.

A program, "Growing Foliage Plants for Your Own Arrangements" was given by Mrs. Russell Smith, who made suggestions for growing plants, shrubs and trees, which provide foliage for all four seasons of the year.

Mrs. Flickinger concluded the program with a paper on birds and what to plant for their feeding, nesting and covering. She told of a newly-formed organization, "Friends of the Ohio Bob White-Quail," which was formed at the instigation of Garden Clubs, Audubon Societies, Nature Clubs and Conservation organizations. Those interested in protecting the quail and having it placed on the non-game or songbird list, should write personal letters expressing their feelings to the legislatures in Columbus.

Mrs. R. R. Cuthbert and her committee, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Joseph Calladine, Mrs. C. Robert Conroy, Mrs. J. A. Cornell, Mrs. R. L. Davis, served dessert.

The next meeting will be March 23 at 1:30 p.m. in the Smucker House. Mrs. Arnold Pariso of Louisville will be guest speaker. Her subject is "Spring Flowering Bulbs."

Old Quarry As It Appears Today.

These tracks were more than three feet apart and measured ten by seven inches. The impressions, three inches deep, looked almost like gigantic bird tracks.

Mr. Hise and a John Wetmore quarried three of these tracks and took them home. Several similar imprints have been found in the southern part of the state, but it is unfortunate that the ones from Salem have been lost since they were among the largest ever found in Ohio.

About the time of this discovery, Daniel Hise erected the Edwin Coppock monument in Hope Cemetery, and it seems likely that the stone came from the Lowery Quarry. Coppock was an ardent abolitionist from Winona, hanged for his part in John Brown's raid on Harper's Ferry.

DURING THE YEARS after Jacob Lowery sold his quarry, it was run by James Jessup and Robert Auld. These owners processed the crushed stone for road ballast and for molding sand used in the manufacture of glassware.

On the eastern rim of the quarry pit, just behind West End Ball Park, there are several large sandstone slabs which have been planed and grooved by the great glacier that covered half of the state approximately one million years ago.

These rocks are an interesting reminder of a time when Salem was buried beneath an ice cap more than three hundred feet thick.

Today the quarry is overgrown with weeds and small trees. It is a popular playground for the neighborhood children, who can usually be found exploring among the rocks, in spite of the fact that the area is considered "Off limits" by many of their parents.

by a Common Pleas judge. It was this court which organized the district in December, 1934.

There is also a board of directors. Two new directors, Clyde Lewis of Delaware and James H. Parrell of Washington Court House, were named last December to carry out the dissolution. The directors execute the orders of the court.

The area involved is west central Ohio, from Lake Erie to the Ohio River. Included are Crawford, Delaware, Fayette, Franklin, Highland, Marion, Madison, Morrow, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Sandusky, Scioto, Seneca, Union, Vinton and Wyandot counties.

Appeared Early

Trouble appeared early. There were resignations and appointments of new persons as early as 1935. Many court actions followed. But in the meantime an Ohio State University professor, C. E. Sherman, had made studies and prepared a flood control plan. It was hoped the Public Works Administration (PWA) would finance the plan, but a preliminary report was requested.

Although Sherman completed the report in less than three months, it was decided the project would not meet PWA requirements.

There followed a disagreement over what part, if any, the U. S. Army's Corps of Engineers would play in studying the project for possible federal money. A suit filed to get rid of the board of directors was dismissed in June, 1937, but two directors resigned shortly after.

The Army Engineers finally began a study, but before any recommendations could be considered, World War II came.

In December, 1945, federal money arrived to begin the Delaware Reservoir, selected seven years earlier under the federal Flood Control Acts of 1937-38. The acts said the government would pay the whole cost of flood control projects where estimated benefits might exceed costs.

Decided To Act

Following the war, the district decided to act on a comprehensive plan. To finance it, directors levied a 3 mill assessment against all real estate in the district on Feb. 15, 1947. The plan was finally completed and adopted by directors in January, 1951.

Gifted Child

find. Now educators are falling over each other trying to find out how to start a program for gifted children.

"A gifted child is one who has unusual insight, or skill, or both. Please note the definition carries no mention of high IQ."

Gifted children are generally well-developed physically and well-integrated. Mr. Kerr pointed out. Often they seem to have most of the desirable physical and mental traits all done up in one package. They are alert, sometimes high strung, have to be busy, have high concentration, think like lightning, and are generally way out ahead of you.

"There are no tables estimating the concentration of gifted children in the population. One to one hundred may or may not be somewhere near the average," he opined.

"Gifted children need to be challenged; they need to be guided; they need to be kept pace with, but not pressed. They should be given free rein in their manner of attacking problems. Here is where we get surprises, and where significant discoveries are made."

Salem is in the process of identifying its gifted children, he said. Where there is teaching staff capable and willing, we are challenging our gifted pupils by encouraging special reports to be worked up and presented to the class. Also here may be projects to be erected for display. Preparing the display generally calls for a lot of research which serves to give the child a deeper understanding of what he is displaying.

Mr. Kerr was president of the Ohio Association for Gifted Children from 1952 to 1956.

Elden Groes introduced the speaker at the Rotary meeting.

Greenford School Operetta Is Friday

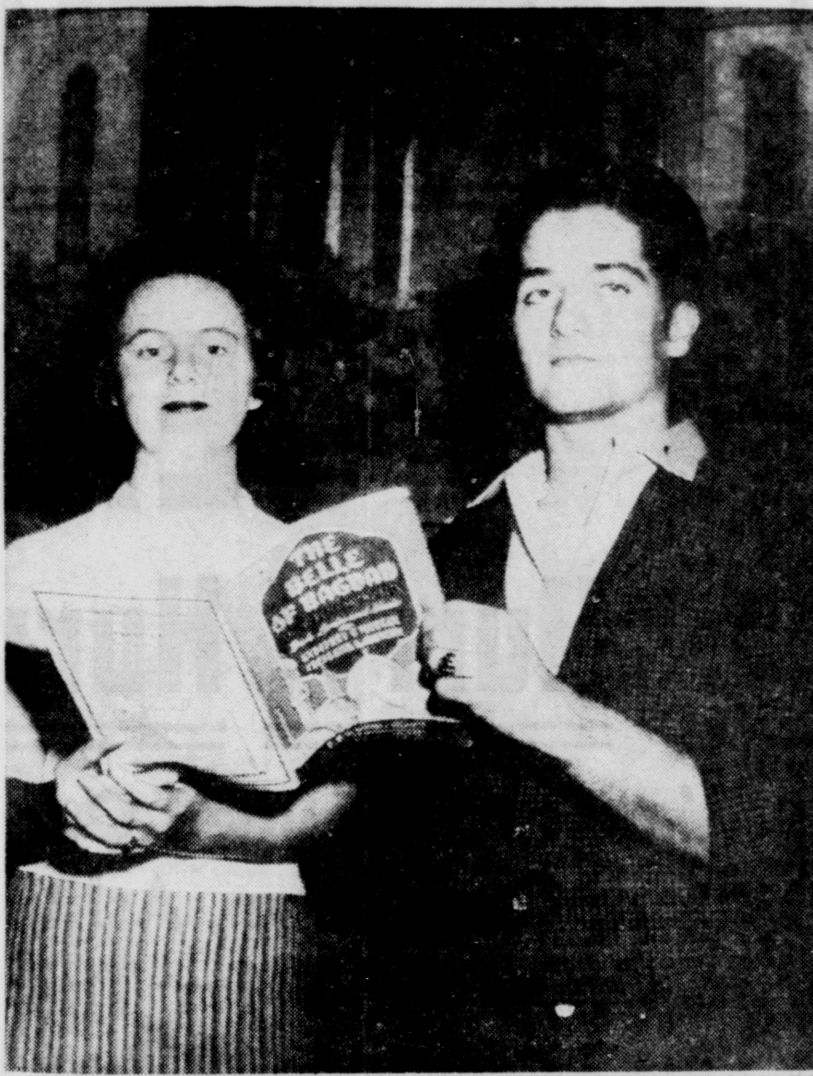

The Greenford High School Chorus will present "The Belle of Bagdad," an operetta, Friday at 8 p.m. in the Greenford school auditorium.

The operetta, which centers around Jewel and Dick, is a story of intrigue and love in the ancient and fascinating Middle East city.

The operetta is directed by Mrs. Robert J. McMillin. Musical accompaniment will be played by the Boardman school orchestra.

weary, excused himself from the party early while the Soviet premier bounced around the room joking and making offhand quips to diplomats and newsmen. The prime minister spent the night at the country villa, and today was reported refreshed by a good night's sleep.

Khrushchev made his attack on the West at a Soviet political rally in the Kremlin while Macmillan was out of Moscow on a visit to the atom research station at Dubna, near the Volga River.

The Soviet premier brushed aside as obsolete the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Germany. Instead, he plumped again for summit talks and sprang a surprise by offering Britain a nonaggression pact.

Once more he insisted that German reunification was a matter for the East and West German governments, not the Big Four.

In earlier private talks with the British premier, Khrushchev had given no indication he was to let loose with a blast at the West or revive the idea of a nonaggression treaty—an idea Macmillan put forward himself a year ago to alleviate Soviet fears of a reunited Germany.

Meany

the AFL, is clearly No. 2 man to Meany in the 14,000,000-member federation.

The fight started when council sessions got under way last week. Meany blew up in remarks to Reuther and James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The AFL-CIO president tried to banish Carey to the end of the council meeting table and bawled out Reuther for making economic policy decisions without consulting him.

Reuther threatened to resign as chairman of the AFL-CIO Economic Committee. Part of the argument concerned Reuther's plan for the AFL-CIO to sponsor a mass march of unemployed on Washington to spur job aid action by Congress and the administration.

Meany reportedly felt this was too drastic. One word led to another. There was a good deal of cussing. Reuther and Carey charged Meany was trying to dictate AFL-CIO policies.

The upshot is that Meany and other federation leaders agreed to beef up their forthcoming Washington unemployment demonstration.

It won't be the mass march on the capital Reuther had in mind. But it is now planned to fill the capital's big armory with 3,000 to 4,000 idle workers and union officials and possibly stage a parade down Pennsylvania Avenue.

protected had an authorized $3,110,000 federal levee improvement project been completed."

In its revised appropriations recommendations, the OVIA recommended a start on planning of the Huntington, Ind., reservoir with a $25,000 appropriation. It raised from $50,000 to $150,000 the suggested appropriation for the Salamonie River project.

The proposed appropriation for the start of construction work on the Shenango Reservoir was increased from $200,000 to $500,000 and the OVIA recommended the appropriation for the West Branch Mahoning Reservoir be $525,000 instead of $229,000 as originally suggested.

The budget recommendations by President Eisenhower contain no appropriations for the Huntington and Salamonie projects. The President has recommended $150,000 for the Shenango project and $229,000 for the West Branch Mahoning Project.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

On the afternoon of Jan. 22, two mystery men whisked one of America's most powerful labor leaders from his plane at Ciampini Airport to a fortress-like building in Rome's most fashionable district—a building in which Soviet agents have launched propaganda riots and riotous propaganda against the U.S. That labor chief is Harry Bridges, leader of Pacific Coast Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. Those two mystery men I can now identify as Soviet activists Agostino Novella, a leader of the bitterly anti-American Italian Communist party and Fernando Santi, one of the top men in the pro-Soviet Italian "Socialist" party.

Both are members of the parliamentary bloc which has fought against Italy's partnership in Western defense alliances. Comrade Novella is one of the commanders of the General Council of the World Federation of Trade Unions which is described in U.S. Intelligence files as a force engaged in attempting to capture democratic Western unions. Since Harry Bridges has told high Soviet officials that he plans a series of meetings on our West Coast to tell of the Russians' virtues—and since this nation is having difficulty balancing its huge budget because we're spending more than 40 billion dollars to defend ourselves against these virtues, let me put this on record.

THE BUILDING to which the mystery men rushed Bridges is the headquarters of the "CGIL," the most powerful Communist labor organization outside the Iron Curtain and the Bamboo Screen.

Brother Bridges' long conference with the leaders of the pro-Soviet Italian labor apparatus was followed by similar whiskings from planes landing at airports controlled by Communist security police—such as the Prague field.

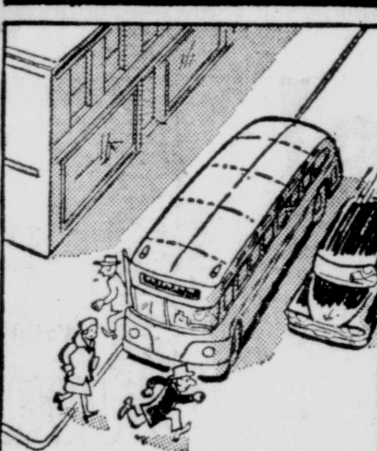

There, too, I can report, he made the rounds with Communist officials. There he sneered at most of us. Let me quote what he said so his followers and the American public may have it exact:

"Our visit to Czechoslovakia was unusually interesting for us... Because the American workers are systematically influenced by the press and radio, which are unfriendly to your country, we shall explain many views to the members of our union," Bridges said in Prague on Feb. 7.

THIS OUTFIT, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, controls cargo loaders on most of the Pacific Coast, in some Alaskan ports and in Hawaii. It is also a political power on the islands and has run several strikes which have proven that the ILWU can throw the brakes on Hawaii's economy. Without the men who follow Bridges very little can move in or out of the island outpost.

Bridges had more to say: "The visit to the Tos factory at Celakovice, for instance, has convinced us of the nonsensical prop-

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Watch for pedestrians when passing buses stopped at the curb.

Disembarking passengers, hurrying to make connections, often disregard street traffic.

The Chicago Motor Club reminds drivers that the blind spot in front of a bus or other vehicle is a favorite crossing point for careless pedestrians. They might step into the flow of traffic without thinking, so a motorist should be on the lookout for them.

aganda about working conditions in your factories, about the concern for the workers, about the life of young people and about the function and position of the trade union organization.

"Having visited Britain, France, Belgium, Greece and Egypt, we have gained the impression that you are on the best road for achieving still greater results than before."

Bridges and his party were in Communist territory at the invitation of the Communist Union of Workers in Transport and Telecommunications.

FROM PRAGUE he hit for Moscow as the guest of some Soviet labor outfits. There he said he had studied the Russian All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions.

Before leaving Moscow for a friendly reception by Communist unions in East Berlin, the West Coast labor chief announced that he believed that the Russian labor units were more democratic than "many American ones."

This he spiced up with a statement that if U.S. labor chiefs visited Russia, "they would learn that everything the workers in America heard about the U.S.S.R. is nothing but lies and slanderous propaganda."

That's strong language from Harry boy, considering the documented evidence of Soviet anti-Catholicism and anti-Semitism and the use of the global labor outfit, the WFTU, to stir anti-American demonstrations not only in Italy but in the tinder and oil filled Near East.

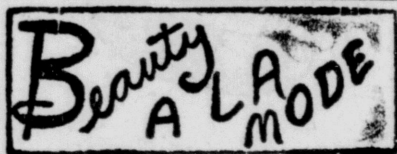

Whose friend is Harry Bridges—or does no one care? The Hall Syndicate

The 1958 accident death toll in the United States was 91,000, or five per cent below the 1957 figure of 95,307 deaths.

Winter hair problems

Don't think "parched hair" is strictly a summer complaint. Winter also takes out its wrath on our hair, but the problems are different. The sudden change from overheated rooms to the bitter cold outdoors affects the crowning glory. It tends to become dry and brittle. Hair is bundled under hats and scarves, so that the fresh sunshine and breezes that are often beneficial don't get a chance to help keep it healthy.

Let us take care of your winter hair problems. We have excellent treatments available. Your hair can be restored to its former loveliness.

Lawyers Eye Tightening of Anti-Red Laws

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Bar Assn. says Congress should tighten laws designed principally to curb Communists.

Voting approval Tuesday of a committee report which made such a recommendation, the ABA's ruling House of Delegates noted officially that some recent Supreme Court decisions dealing with Communist activity and internal security "have been severely criticized and deemed unsound by many responsible authorities."

In general, the report asks Congress to take another look at some recent Supreme Court decisions and amend the questioned laws to remove any doubts as to the intent of the legislators. Any proposals to limit the Supreme Court's jurisdiction are opposed.

But the report noted that differences over some court rulings "have given rise not only to severe criticism of the decisions, but unfortunately to condemnation of the court itself. It advocates a clear definition of the powers of the House Committee on un-American Activities."

In a stormy session ending the 246-member House's two-day session, Loyd Wright of Los Angeles, former ABA president, led the fight to delay a vote on the report until the annual ABA meeting in Miami in August.

"We owe the people of this country enough to tell them what the Communists are doing," Wright said. "Isn't it time we told the court to read the law and stop writing ideological opinions?"

PONTIAC NAMED CAR OF THE YEAR

"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling... performance and styling of any '59 car" — The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine

In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."

"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."

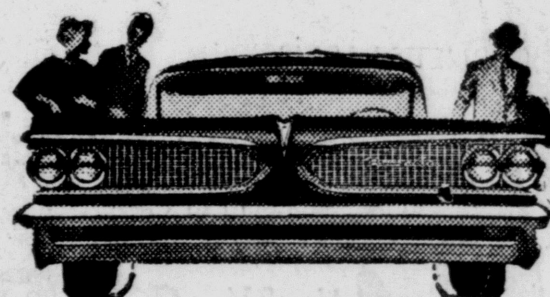

"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."

"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."

"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."

Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

Quakers 5th In Final Associated Press Cage Poll

Locals Just 7 Points From 2nd

Chaney Ranked 8th; East Tied In 26th

History repeated itself today for the Salem Quakers. They finished in fifth place in the Associated Press poll jumping from eighth place of last week. They were fifth in 1958.

The remarkable thing is that the locals ended just seven points behind second rated Toledo Central Catholic. Salem garnered 144 points while Toledo had 151. The Quakers were just one point out of fourth. Dayton Roosevelt was fourth with 145 points while Elyria was third with 148 votes.

The Quakers got two first place votes compared to three of last week. Another first place vote would have put them in fourth if not undisputed second place.

Youngstown Chaney dropped from 5th to 8th while Youngstown East and Cadiz were tied for 26th with Akron St. Marys.

Canton McKinley was tied for 13th with Fostoria while Massillon came to rest in seventh place and Akron Central in sixth.

In the UPI poll Salem ended fifth while Chaney was 10th. Fourteen less sports editors voted this week in the AP poll than what participated last week.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland East Tech's Scarabs are favored heavily to repeat as Ohio's Class AA high school basketball champions.

The state's sports writers gave the defending kings an overwhelming vote of confidence today in the final Associated Press poll, 19 of 37 scribes picking the Clevelanders as the No. 1 team.

Fame could be fleeting, however, since two of the top 10 teams failed to get by the first sectional tournament game and are already out of the title race despite their lofty ratings.

Toledo Central Catholic, rated on East Tech's heels, carried an 18-game winning streak into the opening sectional fray at Toledo against Toledo Waite which had lost its last six in compiling a 7-9 record.

The outcome: Waite 62, Central Catholic 61. Upper Sandusky, rated ninth with an 18-1 record, was dumped 63-46 by Ashland which had won 8 of 18 pre-tourney tilts.

Despite the losses, both Central Catholic and Upper Sandusky held their spots in the top 10.

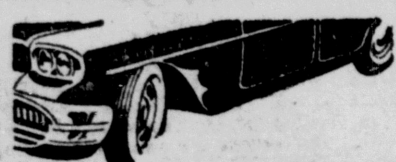

Meanwhile, Marietta put in a bid as the comeback team of the year. The Tigers, 5-14 a year ago, defeated tenth-ranked Chillicothe and Southeastern Ohio Conference champion Gallipolis last weekend to run their mark to 13-5. Frank Christie leads the Tigers with 428 points, a 23-plus average.

East Tech won the Cleveland city title by defeating St. Ignatius for its 43rd straight conquest. The Scarabs opened defense of the state title last night, defeating Warrensville 92-44 in the sectional meet at Bedford.

Salem's fifth-ranked Quakers have a 35-1 record for the last two regular campaigns. They were 18-0 last year and 17-1 this time, before dashing into tournament play. The lone loss was 68-57 at the hands of champion East Tech.

Third-ranked Elyria needed only one man against Olmsted Falls in the Class AA sectional opener. All-Ohio football end Walt Rock scored 29 points, matching the loser's total, as Elyria made it 19 in a row by a 62-29 count.

Phoenix, Ariz. — Milo Savage, 159, Salt Lake City, knocked out Tony Montana, 158, Phoenix, 7. London — Joe Erskine, 193, Wales, outpointed Willie Pastrano, 186, New Orleans, 10.

Game Time Set For 7:30

Salem-South Tangle In Tourney Friday; Winner Goes To Finals

A berth in the lower bracket finals of the Youngstown Class AA sectional tournament will be at stake Friday night when Salem's Quakers tangle with the South High Warriors (10-8) at the South field house beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The winner of this game will go against the victor of the Austintown-Fitch-Youngstown East contest in the finals on Saturday at 9 p.m. Fitch and East play at 9 p.m. Friday.

Last season Salem beat South 53-47 in regular season play but Merle Roselle's club ended the Quakers' tourney chances with a 54-49 decision in the sectional finals.

John Cabas' band of Red and Black cagers will not only be out for revenge but for the first time in history will be seeking their second win over Youngstown South in one season.

The two clubs battled here Jan. 27 with the locals winning 84-39. The Warriors made but 15 per cent of their shots that night. South gained Friday night's semi-final spot by defeating Girard 58-52 last Saturday while Salem earned the right by overhauling Newton Falls the same evening 71-51.

Probable starters for South will be Bill Rowland, Carmel Brawley, Phil Wilson, Don Wills and Al Lewis with Booker Wright and Ron Hill in reserve.

The Warriors' tallest man is 6-2 Lewis while all the others are around and below 6-0.

Once again the Quakers will rely on the board work of 6-4 Lou Slaby and 6-4 Clyde Marks along with the outside ball handling and shooting of the "little" trio, 6-1 Woody Deitch, 5-10 Dave Hunter and 5-9 Dan Krichbaum.

and the Cowboys just to satisfy certain individuals.

Regular season performances mean nothing anyhow at tourney time. The fact of not even receiving a bye according to your fine record really adds insult to injury.

It's a disgrace that the tourney picture in Ohio is not more uniform and run on an equal basis everywhere. There is no one big authoritative board but just a bunch of little groups doing things.

This Friday Salem plays a sectional tourney game against Youngstown South. The game is on South's home floor and there will probably be Youngstown officials too. Chances are these officials have worked several games for South and maybe a few if not any for Salem. Is this justice? For that matter, South could even be playing the district finals on their home floor. This is ridiculous.

If such a predicament exists in other sections of Ohio, I feel something drastic should be done and that Commissioner W. J. McConnell ought to sit down and work things out differently.

TEAMS LIKE Massillon, Canton McKinley and East Tech received automatic first round byes in their respective sections but Salem and Chaney didn't. The only reason I can think of was may be money. The more games Salem and Chaney play, the more green stuff infiltrates into South fieldhouse. I don't know if this is wrong but it's sure unfair to penalize such strong teams as the Quakers

TOLEDO CENTRAL Catholic was ranked second in the AP poll last week yet they lost their first tourney game to Toledo Waite 62-61. Three predictions came through last week. Springfield Local and Lowellville emerged from the Mahoning County Class A tourney to advance to the sectional at Warren while United Local won this county's Class A crown.

Acton continues tonight at the Memorial Building in the playoffs to determine the winner of the Monday and Wednesday Divisions of the city cage league.

Bennetts Greenhouse takes on Farmers Bank at 7 in their second game for the Wednesday title while Marks Landing battles Herron Transfer at 8 in the second game of their best of three for the Monday crown.

Farmers and Marks won last Monday in the opening tilts. I think Marks is going to take the next two straight from Farmers.

If this is so, Bennetts and Marks will battle for the championship of the entire city league beginning Monday in the best of three. Should Farmers beat out Bennetts I'll still stick with Marks to win everything.

The city league all-star game which will be played March 9 will be preceded by a volleyball exhibition by a team from Youngstown.

ENTRIES are now being taken for the fourth annual United Boosters Club cage tourney to be held at United High School March 30 to April 4. Information may be obtained by writing Frank Solak at United High.

Salem's 25th annual little city cage meet will be held in the junior high school March 23 to 28. Entry blanks can be gotten from Rusty Tomlinson at the Memorial Building. A total of 32 teams is expected.

The metal was "melting" on the lockers in Salem's dressing room at the half of their tilt with Newton Falls last Saturday. For the initial time this year the club found themselves behind at the intermission. Coach John Cabas heatedly made his club realize they were only human and were in a game up to their necks. The true mark of a champion is the ability to come from behind. The fact that Salem executed this element in tourney play is more encouraging than had it not been there at all.

Most townspeople will have to do their shopping Thursday this week if they want to watch Salem in the tournament. The Quakers play this Friday and should return also on Saturday. During the next three weeks the Quakers could be playing on Fridays two more times. If I were a merchant and liked basketball, it would be a problem whether to work myself or go to the game.

Demolay Cagers In State Tourney In Toledo Mar. 13

It's on to Toledo for the state tournament for Salem's Demolay basketball team. The squad beat East Liverpool 34-31 Monday in Alliance to end league play unbeaten.

Paul Schmid placed the winners with 10 points while Tony Everett had eight. Ken McArtor, John Carlos, Jim Schuster and Fred Ackerman each had four for Salem.

The Salem B team lost to the Alliance A squad 41-38 with Ken McArtor tossing in 17 tallies. Vaughan Harshman had 11, Jim Schuster six and Dick Citino and Gordie Scullion two each for Salem also.

The "A" record is the determining one for teams to advance to Toledo. The local Demolays will compete there with other winners March 13 and 14.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Dan Hodge, 192, Perry, Okla., knocked out Garvin Sawyer, 193½, Cincinnati 8.

Kansas City, Kan.—Joe Shaw, 141, New York, knocked out Martin Ware, 143, Chicago, 9.

St. Mary's, Louisville Enter NCAA Field; Miami Eyes Bid

By The Associated Press
St. Mary's (Calif.) and Louisville are packaged for delivery and Miami of Ohio is about to tie the knot today as the field fills for the NCAA basketball championships. St. Marys — the West Coast's successor to once-mighty San Francisco—nailed an NCAA berth Tuesday night by clinching the West Coast A.C. title with a 58-57 overtime victory over runner-up College of the Pacific, Louisville, the fast improving Southern independent, was selected as an at-large entry.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's how 37 sports editors, 22 from newspapers and 15 from radio-television stations, rated Ohio's high school basketball teams today in the final Associated Press Class AA poll.

Shown are the first place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc voting basis, and the won-lost records of the leaders:

Bowling Green, the only team with a chance to tie Miami for the Mid-American title, lost its two regular season games to the Redskins. In any event, Miami can remove even this doubt by winning one of its two remaining conference tests — the next against Kent State on Saturday.

Marquette, an earlier at-large choice by the NCAA, boosted its record to 19-3 with a 95-76 victory over Notre Dame Navy improved its selection chances in a 70-58 triumph over Delaware; and Rice and Texas A&M won Southwest Conference tests in other Tuesday features.

Beating COP on Bobby Dold's long one-hander in the closing seconds of overtime, St. Mary's ended San Francisco's four-year championship reign in the WCAC. Louisville's selection, despite a 12-10 record, was based on a late season spurge that has produced five victories in the last six games and triumphs over the likes of Bradley, Marquette, and Dayton, the latter twice.

Marquette, which will join Louisville in Mid-East regional preliminaries at Lexington, Ky. March 9 or 10, got 39 points from 8 Mike Moran in its rout of Notre Dame.

Knicks Beat Boston Celtics By 134-122

By The Associated Press
The New York Knickerbockers, who were given about a 50-50 chance of gaining the National Basketball Assn. playoffs in pre-season estimates, today were well on their way toward clinching second place in the Eastern Division.

The Knicks Tuesday night beat the Boston Celtics 134-122 in the windup of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader after the Syracuse Nats were upset by the Cincinnati Royals 113 - 109 in the opener.

Now, any combination of New York victories or Syracuse defeats totalling three will give the Knickerbockers second place.

Richie Guerin scored 37 points for the Knickerbockers. Bob Cousy was high for the Celtics with 33. Syracuse made up a 17 point deficit, deadlocking the game at 28-all early in the fourth quarter after trailing by 40-23 in the first minute of the second period. Jack Twyman wound up with 29 points. George Yardley was the Nats' top man with 25.

Should the Clippers get past Beach City they would play the winner of the Atwater-Windham game this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Two teams will emerge from the Canton sectional into district play also to be held at Canton's Memorial Auditorium. There will be eight teams in the district tourney to be held March 5, 6 and 7 with two of them advancing into the regional.

Freshmen Lose To State St. Quintet 42-40

Salem's freshmen basket ball squad was eliminated from the Alliance Frosh tourney yesterday when they dropped a 42-40 thriller to Alliance State St.

The Quakers suffered both at the foul line (6-14) and in shooting in the opening quarter. They made but one of 11 shots in the first frame. Throughout the remainder of the contest however they sank 16 of 22 shots for 50 per cent. They made 17 of 43 shots for 40 per cent while Alliance shot 17 of 42 attempts for a similar percentage. The winners made eight of 12 fouls however.

Alliance led 12-4 after one period but Salem rallied in the second canto to post a 21-18 intermission margin. The score was knotted 32-32 after three periods.

Salem led 33-36 with 90 seconds to go when Lear of Alliance tied the game with a goal. Bob Eskay of Salem put his team ahead 40-38, and with 45 seconds left La-Fountain of Alliance made a foul to put his team within one at 40-39. With 30 seconds left the same player made the first of a one and one foul to tie the count at 40-40. He missed his second shot but Lear tossed in the rebound for State St. to make it 42-40 for Alliance. Salem had the ball with 15 seconds remaining but failed to score.

Eskay tossed in 12 for Salem while Allen Ewing had 11. Ted Thorne and John Panetzott and Gary Jeffries four each. LaFountain had 17 and Lear 15 for Alliance.

McClokey of Palestine, only a sophomore, was a pillar on the boards, hauling in 18 rebounds.

Willis Woods led the winners with 17 while Knight and Bolon each had 14. For the losers, Gregory had 18.

McPhee paced Canfield to their easy win with 21 points while Ray Blott had 16, and Baird and Sopkovich 10 each.

Joe Traficant had 16 and Hutch 14 for the losers.

BEGINS SENTENCE

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Carl Moser, 66-year-old chiropractor who has admitted performing abortions for the past 30 years, starts serving a four month sentence Thursday in County Jail.

Common Pleas Judge Claude V. D. Emmons sentenced Moser Tuesday and barred the chiropractor from practice for life.

Washington's smallest county is San Juan, with 178 square miles; Yakima is largest with 5,221 square miles.

Supreme Court Ruling Upholds Import Tax Imposed by States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Tuesday ruled that state property taxes may be imposed on imported materials essential to the importer's current manufacturing requirements.

The 6-2 decision has far-reaching import to numerous business firms and municipalities. It was an interpretation of the U.S. Constitution's ban on state import levies.

Separate cases were before the court involving Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and United States Plywood Corp.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube protested an Ohio property tax on imported bulk iron ores. The firm placed the ores in separate stockpiles in the same form as imported. The imported ore was not mingled with other company property until manufacturing processes began.

Justice Whittaker wrote the court majority opinion. Justice Stewart took no part and Justices Frankfurter and Harlan dissented.

Whittaker said the imported materials were intended to supply and were essential to the manufacturer's current operating needs. State property taxes, he said, may be imposed on imported materials which, at the time of the tax assessment "were being used."

In every practical sense for the purposes for which they had been imported... just like domestic property that was kept at the same place in the same way for the same use.

In another decision, this one by 8-0, the court held that states may discriminate against their own residents in imposition of property taxes on merchandise held in storage.

Such discrimination, the court said, is permissible when resting "upon a state of facts that reasonably can be conceived to constitute a distinction or difference, in state policy which the state is not prohibited from... by the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment."

This issue was presented by Youngstown Sheet & Tube and by Allied Stores of Ohio, Inc.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube objected to imposition of an Ohio property tax on domestic iron ore and other raw materials held for use in the firm's manufacturing processes. The company said it was denied equal protection of law because non-residents of Ohio holding similar property in a storage warehouse in Ohio were not required to pay the tax.

Allied Stores of Ohio, Inc., questioned imposition of the state property tax on its merchandise held in storage, when similar merchandise so held in Ohio by non-residents of Ohio is exempted from the levy.

Allied has its principal office in Cleveland. It operates retail department stores in Akron, Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland.

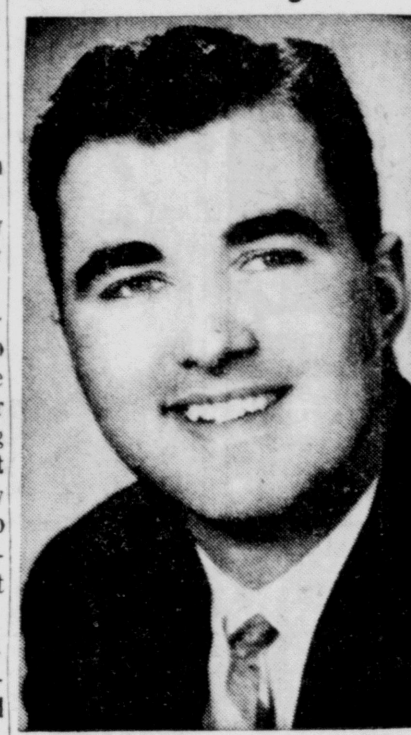

This opinion also was by Justice Whittaker. Justice Stewart took no part.

Whittaker said the Supreme Court majority agreed with the Ohio Supreme Court that the tax on domestic ore was valid. Whittaker said the levy does not violate the federal Constitution's equal protection clause.

In reference to Allied Stores, Whittaker said that a state tax law may discriminate in favor of a certain class and not be arbitrary "if the discrimination is founded upon a reasonable distinction, or difference in state policy."

It might reasonably have been the purpose and policy of the Ohio State Legislature, said Whittaker, to encourage the construction or leasing and cooperation of warehouses in Ohio by non-residents with attendant benefits to the state's economy, or to stimulate the market for merchandise and agricultural products produced in Ohio by enabling non-residents to purchase and hold them in the

Assistant Manager

Fred Kelly

Fred Kelly of Binghamton, N.Y., has taken over new duties here as assistant manager of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store on S. Broadway.

Mr. Kelly, who has been with Sears in Binghamton for the past three and one-half years, is a native of Peekskill, N.Y., where he was graduated from high school. He also is a graduate of Mohawk Valley Technical College, Utica, N.Y. He was in the army for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, the former Jean Wilson of Kimball, W. Va., and their son, Fred Jr., are residing at 842 Franklin St. They are members of St. Paul Church.

state for storage only, free from taxes, in anticipation of future needs.

"Other similar purposes reasonably may be conceived," said Whittaker.

Rudyard Kipling, born in India, was educated in England, married an American and lived for several years in Vermont before returning to Sussex, England.

Trio Held to Jury For Store Burglary

LISBON — A 23-year-old Salem man, a 25-year-old Wellsville resident and a 21-year-old West Virginia man were bound over to the April grand jury Tuesday afternoon for breaking and entering the Thomas Campbell Market on Route 45, south of Salem, early Sunday morning.

William Lee Cline of 1603 Main St., Wellsville; Byron Provins of Salem RD 1, and James E. Price of Brown, W. Va., each pleaded guilty and was bound over by County Judge James L. MacDonald under $1,000 bond each. All are confined to county jail in lieu of bond.

They were arrested early Sunday morning after a search warrant was issued by Wellsville Mayor William J. Shoub and the stolen articles from the Campbell's market were found in the Cline home. Cline also was bound over to the grand jury Monday by Mayor Shoub for breaking and entering the Star-Light Cafe in Wellsville, Feb. 14.

COURT TO CLOSE

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Municipal Court will be closed for the remainder of the week because of the death of Judge James S. Sturgeon, who died Tuesday in Flower Hospital at Toledo. He had been undergoing treatment for a ruptured blood vessel of the throat. Sturgeon, 45, had been recovering from a cold and became ill last Sunday while visiting in Toledo.

Largest county in the United States is San Bernardino County, Calif., with 20,131 square miles.
